

COMPANY BIO

Wenge Yang, Ph.D.

Vice President, Global Marketing

Dr. Yang joined Entegris in 2012 to serve as leader of the global and corporate marketing teams. In his role, he is responsible for critical marketing activities, including market research, strategic marketing, corporate and product communications development, sales support and the creation and maintenance of the company's strategic technology roadmap.

Prior to joining Entegris, Dr. Yang was an equity research analyst at Citigroup covering the semiconductor equipment and materials sector. He also served in various executive roles at Advanced Micro Devices, Tokyo Electron and two start-up companies.

Dr. Yang received a Ph.D. in Materials Science and a MBA from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. Prior to that, he earned a master of science degree in mechanical engineering from the New Jersey Institute of Technology and a bachelor of science degree in materials science and engineering from Shanghai Jiao Tong University.